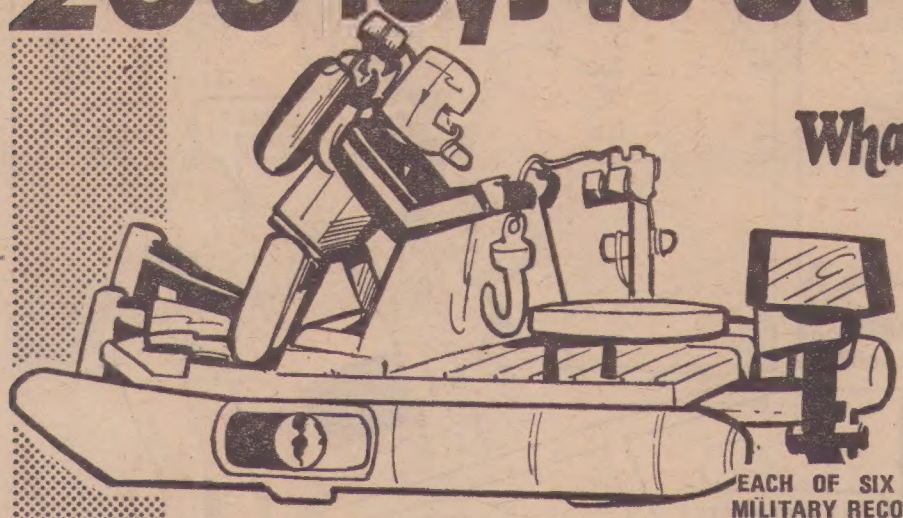
200 Toys to be won FREE!



What a fantastic opportunity...

FOR WHOOPEE! READERS! HERE'S A FREE-TO-ENTER COMPETITION FOR YOU TO TRY – AND THE PRIZES ARE SENSATIONAL! MOBILE ACTION COMMAND RESCUE SETS MADE BY MATCHBOX... A THRILLING ADVENTURE IN EVERY PACK..

FIVE FIRST PRIZES

EACH OF SIX "MATCHBOX" MOBILE ACTION COMMAND RESCUE SETS: MILITARY RECON UNIT; FIRE FIGHTING UNIT; ALL TERRAIN RESCUE UNIT; EMERGENCY MEDICAL UNIT; AIR RESCUE UNIT; AND SEA RESCUE UNIT. 170 RUNNERS UP AWARDS OF A SINGLE M.A.C. RESCUE SET.

How to enter...

Our picture puzzles represent seven kinds of emergencies which Mobile Action Commanders might be called in to deal with... can you work out what they are?

To find each type of problem, use the letters already printed and the first letter of each pictured object. For example, number 1 is FIRE (F – Iron – R – Engine) ... there, we've done the first one for you!

When you have discovered the emergencies, write them neatly, in numbered order, on a postcard. Now add your own full name, age and address and ask an adult to sign it as your own unaided work. Post to: WHOOPEE! "EMERGENCIES" CONTEST, 136 LONG ACRE, LONDON WC2E 9QP, to arrive not later than Wednesday, 31st December, 1975.

RULES

This contest is open to all readers in Great Britain, Northern Ireland, the Channel Islands and Isle of Man, except employees (and their families) of IPC Magazines Ltd., or the printers of WHOOPEE!

The first prizes will be awarded to the five entrants who correctly identify the seven emergencies; and who, in the event of any ties, have submitted the neatest entries, age being taken into account. Remaining prizes will go to the senders of the 170 next best entries.

The result will be published in our earliest possible issue and the Editor's decision is final.

Dear Editor,

I am a fan of Evel Knievel. I think he's the best stunt man in the world. Please print a picture of him. I am also a fan of WHOOPEE! and I get it every week.

MARTIN SELF, Ipswich.

Prof. Cube's a stunt man, Martin. Remember a few weeks ago when Frankie Stein borrowed a bike . . . all the worry 'stunt'ed Prof's growth . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

My hobby is collecting matchboxes, and I have 80 altogether. I'd like to go on collecting them until I've got a record-breaking amount. I also enclose my picture.

PAUL MICHAELS, Romford

Bet you wear a smile on your face to 'match' the one in the picture when you receive your postal order prize, pal . . . Editor.

The Sad, Sad Tale of Poor Ossie

There was a young man called Ossie
Who thought he was the greatest — or was he?
The Ed did protest
He thought him grotesque
So shattered the hopes of poor Ossie.

HILARY WHITE, Stourbridge

Huh! That ain't a limerick
It's a grimerick
. . . Ossie.

Dear Editor,

I am a regular reader of Whoopee! and have got every issue so far. My favourite story is Spy School and I would be very pleased if you could make it into two pages long, instead of one. Here is a picture of me.

DAVID PERCY, Southport.

At the moment, there are no plans to make Spy School into a two page set, David, but thanks for sending us your photo, and here it is . . . Editor.

KNOCK-KNOCK

WANDA PAWLOWICZ of OTTAWA, CANADA. receives £1 as this week's winner. Send your entry to KNOCK-KNOCK at the WHOOPEE! address. In cases of duplication the first entry received will be judged.

Dear Editor,

I must complain about the amount of adverts you put in WHOOPEE! I think you should avoid carrying so many, and put in more stories instead. However, I still enjoy the comic.

PAUL HOLLAND, Romford.

It's a compliment that advertisers place so much faith in the pulling power of WHOOPEE!, but I do understand your point. The fact is, advertising provides important revenue to offset ever-increasing publishing costs . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

I live in Bournville, which was founded by George Cadbury, the man famous for making milk chocolate. Evidence of his fame can be seen throughout the town.

SIMON GREENFIELD, Bournville.

And in just about every sweetshop in the land I would imagine! DROOL! . . . Editor.

Dear Innkeeper,

My Dad said he would like to stay in the haunted room at Scream Inn for one million pounds any day.

DEBRA KERR, Runcorn.

Cackle! There's £1 on its way to you now, Debra . . . and IF you manage to get another 999,999 letters published, he'll have his million pounds WITHOUT staying in the haunted room . . . Innkeeper.

Dear Editor,

I was wondering if young Sweeny Toddler is any relation of the infamous Sweeny Todd, the demon barber, who was reputed to make pies out of people?

LEON JONES, Coppull.

Gulp! I hope not, Leon, because he once told me he'd like to have me round at his house for dinner. I'd hate to think I'd be on the MENU! . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

Recently, my friend bought a kitten. We couldn't think what to call it. Suddenly I got the answer . . . how about calling it WHOOPEE! . . . so she has done that. Now we're trying to teach it how to read comics.

SUSAN FORD, Barnes.

I'm always worried about cats who get too clever, Susan . . . I mean, look what happened to Blunder Puss! Still, a kitten called WHOOPEE! can't be too bad . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

A friend of my dad owns a big steam-roller which I help to look after when the family go to the steam rallies with our friends. The steam-roller has appeared on "Magpie", the TV programme.

PAULA STRUTT, Orpington.

H'm, I bet it's a magnificent machine. Sort of like a mechanical Shake, eh? . . . Editor.

Dear Editor,

Soon after passing my St. John's Ambulance first aid exam I fell off a horse and broke my collar bone. Now I have to wear a bandage and a sling, so I cannot practise bandaging up other people.

VINCENT THEOBALD, Northants.

Cool! What an unlucky break. May I suggest you bandage yourself to the horse next time you go for a ride . . . At least it'll stop you falling off . . . Editor.
